QUANTIFIERS

iSLCollective.com

How many

We use How Many for questions with countable nouns.

How many days are there in January?

How many countries are there in the world?

How many students are there in your class?

iSLCollective.com

How much

We use How Much for questions with uncountable nouns.

How much money do you have?

How much milk is in the fridge?

How much sugar would you like in your coffee?

iSLCollective.com

How many eggs do you need to prepare a cake?

How much coffee do you drink a day?

iSLCollective.com

I bought many apples today.
I bought a lot of apples today.
I bought lots of apples today.

iSLCollective.com

I like much sugar in my tea.
I like a lot of sugar in my tea.
I like lots of sugar in my tea.

iSLCollective.com

FEW / A FEW
(countable)

A FEW represents a positive quantity. It means "some or "a small amount".

FEW expresses a negative quantity or shortage. It means "not many" or "not enough"

Carol has got a few strawberries. She can make some jam.

Jill has got (very) few strawberries. She can't make any jam.

iSLCollective.com

LITTLE / A LITTLE (uncountable)

A LITTLE is used with positive quantity. It means "a small amount" or "some".

LITTLE expresses a negative quantity. It means "almost nothing" or "not much".

Carol has got a little flour. She can make a cake.

Jill has got (very) little flour. She can't make a cake.

iSLCollective.com

I have a few friends but I'm happy.
I have few minutes. I'm late.

iSLCollective.com

I have a little money. I will buy a hot dog.
I can't go to the cinema. I have little money.

iSLCollective.com